S/S 19 MENSWEAR TRENDS

THE BRIGHTNESS

The brightness provides a clear colour message with classic statement spring summer wardrobe in bold primary pops. Blue is still prevalent, but navy has all but disappeared as colour sits with black for a more directional, and younger interpretation.

This trend not only takes influence from American heritage brands such as Tommy Hilger and Polo Ralph Lauren, but also original 90's streetwear brands like Karl Kani, Cross Colours and le Coq Sportif.

Classic styles are made statement pieces with the use of vivid tipping, bright piping and cut & Sew paneling details on polo's, rugby's, jackets and lightweight knits. Colour pop trims including contrast zips, cords and toggles are essential.

This look translates well into accessories as a way to 'buy into' the look or enhance it, this include the classic daypack, nylon wallets, colour block trainers and contrast sole pumps.

ACID HAUS

ACID HAUS

Acid Haus is a modern journey into the simple approach to garments and use of colour for S/S19.

Acid yellow sits with reclaimed black along side warm greys and muted orange. Navy takes a back seat, which gives a much more contemporary, modern and uplifting feel to the trend for the season. This colour story approach carries on from the previous Colour Pop trend; bold colours sitting along side more traditional core palette deliver the modernity this trend drives.

As well as colour, garments are pushed to a modern technical arena. Cleaner silhouettes sit along side newer fits - wider fit trousers at new lengths are teamed wide boxier tailoring and outerwear.

Pattern and graphics reference industrial designers like Peter Saville and Ben Kelly – clean, bold and very graphical. These types of prints can be used as t-shirt prints, shirt pattern or internals on outerwear. Fabrics are technical but not always synthetic – water resistant, non-crease, cooling – techy trims support this direction and can also be a feature that is practical.

This modernist man is not afraid to push his boundaries with the colour he wears and the clothes he likes and how he wears them. Modern, wider fit chino with a bold print shirt, boxy tailoring with a techy hooded coat in acid yellow is everyday wear. Shackets and shirts blend into outerwear end use, jersey is clean and unfussy.

The trend works perfectly for accessories and footwear. Technical and sports are reference for bags while the fisherman hat is re born in technical fabric mirroring outerwear. Footwear has the timeless white leather vulcanized pump and the more technical trimmed sandals.

Again, if you prefer a smarter, cleaner modern wardrobe with elements of relaxed dressing then ACID HAUS is the perfect trend to add to your Spring / Summer wardrobe.

Havana Good Time

S/S 19 MENSWEAR TRENDS

Havana Good Time

Havana Good Time is a smart, formal trend for spring/summer. Taking influence from classic 40's resort attire and the effortless cool characters of Havana, Cuba.

Key colours from the palette are tobacco, ochre, ecru and taupe, which are, complimented with indigo blues, pale greens and dusty berry shades.

The foundations of the silhouettes are suits and tailored SB jackets in key palette colours, light summer wools and linen blends.

The four-pocket linen safari jacket adds the essence of Hemmingway to this smart summer trend. Smart suit trousers are fuller in fit with pleated fronts and importantly in off white and ecru fabrications. Tailored shorts are also significant in transitioning this smart trend into summer.

For shirts and polos the end use is formal, so these are worn tucked in. Shirts are both long and short sleeved, printed and striped. The reverse collar is pivotal for the cool Cuban aesthetic.

Prints are really significant for this trend and are heavily inspired by Cuban tiles, providing striking geometric shapes and saturated colours. For the floral element of this trend, it is important that they are not too Hawaiian and are more botanical with digital florals, chrysanthemum flowers and large-scale placements providing some newness.

Accessories are important to add finishing touches to the look. Smart suede loafers offer a relaxed option for footwear. Tortoiseshell sunglasses, a classic timepiece, silk jacquard ties, summer scarfs and Pocket Squares in designs all complete the modern gents attire. To add a touch of extravagance and style, a Panama hat and vintage travel trunk complete this visually pleasing look.

DUSTLANDS

Dustlands offers a refreshing take on a transitional casual trend. It has a weekend traveller feel with modern shapes in luxurious fabrications, including clean cottons, suede and linen to add a sophisticated edge.

Warm tones of salmon and terracotta are paired with pistachio green and are grounded with shades of deep chocolate, dusty stone and refreshing cream.

The clean 4-pocket safari jacket and fall-collared blouson in canvas, linen and crisp cottons are key for the season, which are worn over subtly textured waffles and ribbed knits. Shirting fits perfectly into the relaxed look in coloured linen and slub oxford weave, with the collarless shirt becoming an important silhouette.

Linen also appears within trousers and shorts, with the drawstring silhouette being very important for the high summer season.

Concealed placket polos and subtle tipping are in keeping with the modern execution of this trend. Stripes look particularly new with updated placements, which are worn with off white denim and slim fit chinos.

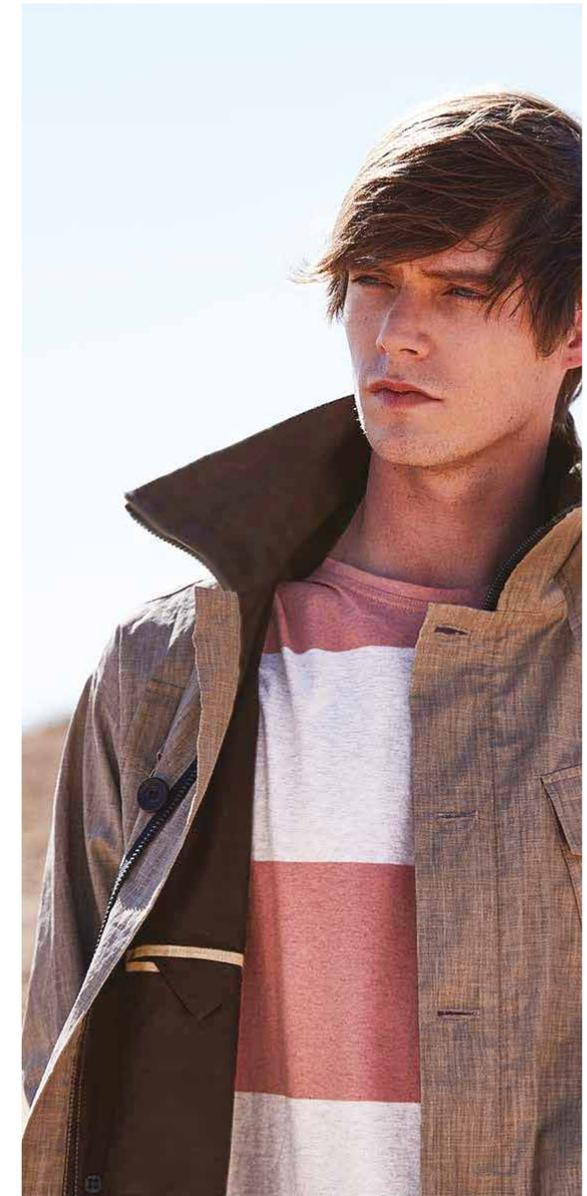

Fabric interest continues into the accessories with canvases and suede's being used on refined rucksacks and trainers, summer espadrilles and Birkenstocks with updated soles add an outdoor summer feel. Tonal Holdalls are an essential for the weekend traveller, and tinted lense sunglasses complete the look.

BANOFFEE

This story is about the play between 3 key seasonal colours – Yves Klein Blue, Toffee and Yellow. Individually they are strong, but combined they form a bold palette for a directional smart casual look.

Yves Klein Blue is the deepest ultramarine and creates an intense saturated blue giving casual wear a new energy and vitality. Yellow shades run from gold and butterscotch to lemon, and it is combined with sand and toffees for a very contemporary take on tonality.

These blue and yellow shades work well in head to toe tonal dressing for a more catwalk look, but also have a dominance that translates into statement pieces including the summer shacket, crew neck 'tops' pleat front chino shorts, and the windbreaker jacket which is definitely the jacket of the season. They also make strong combination in tonal stripe combos, which are interjected with white in stripes and weaves.

Garments utilise natural bases like linen and garment dyed cotton through to more technical fabrications such as paper handles, coated cottons and 2 tone nylons creating a chic, refined look with a rustic edge.

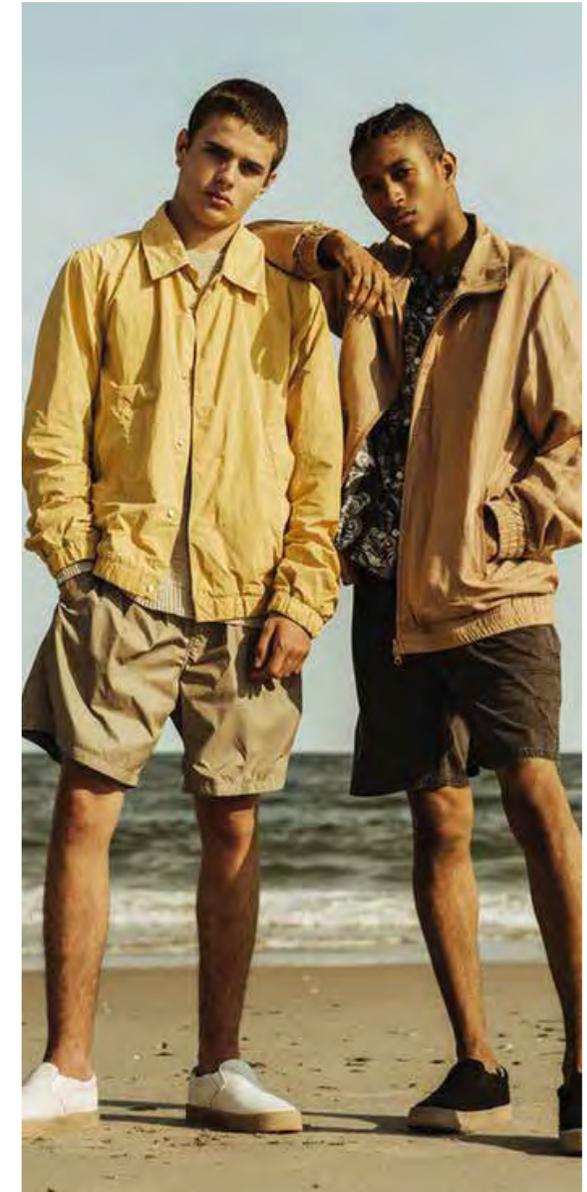

The strong colour story continues through to the accessories with tonal trainers and canvas pumps being key, as well as smarter leather vulcanized trainers. The essential rucksack, suede peak cap and retro Carrera complete the look.

SAN PELLEGRINO

San Pellegrino is a clean minimal story that evolves the pastel trend that has been so prominent last spring summer. Emerald and cornflower lift the neutral base of vanilla and stone, as well as compliment the soft watercolour shaded of pistachio, mint and powder blue to offer accents that feel modern and refreshing.

Silhouettes are simple, clean and minimal which makes solid colour pieces key to this trend, but ottoman weaves and honeycomb textures add interest. Updates to the classic chino, fly front polo and summer weight outerwear have a contemporary feel due to the sports influence fabrications and styling details that give the whole trend a futuristic modernity.

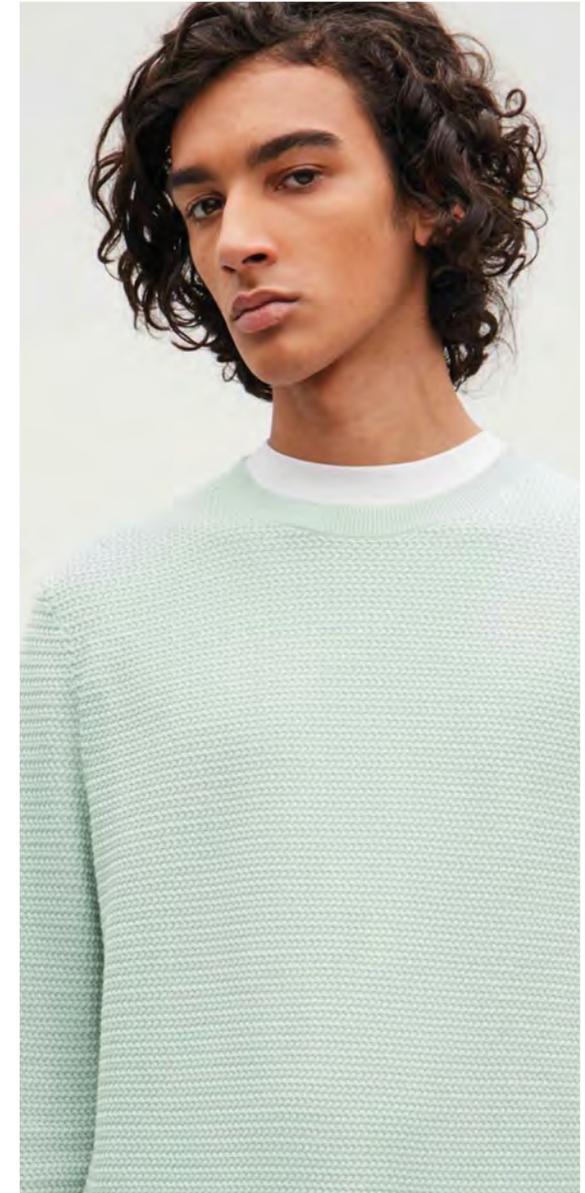

Modern art inspiration allows for a new take on patterns and prints. Matisse's 'Drawing With Scissors' and Josef Albers' 'Mitered Squares' offer an authentic point of reference.

90'S HERITAGE

90's Heritage is a bold retro sportswear inspired trend, with a playful approach to casual menswear for SS19.

Colour highlights are explored through cut and sew panelling, stripes, taping and piping detail within the garments. These key details are a main focus to 90's Heritage. The consumer is not afraid to stand out in the crowd and push the boundaries with what he is wearing, wearing bold colours head to toe joined with retro trainers and accessories such as a cap and a bum bag. Overall conveying a youthful feel to the trend.

The colour palette is formed of strong tones of teal and blue joined with highlights of yellow, orange and lilac. These highlight colours joined with dark purples and Navy convey the 90's retro feel to the trend.

90's Heritage holds relaxed shapes with a strong jersey and outerwear presence. Exploring different fabrications with a sportswear undertone encapsulates the trend with track tops, zip neck cut and sew polos and ruggbys being key items.

90s Heritage brings us back to the nostalgia of the 90's era where you can be playful with colour and fabrication within your outfit. This trend is perfect for a casualwear wardrobe in the summer with many layering pieces to elevate the outfit to its full retro potential.

POWER PASTELS

POWER PASTELS

The Power Pastels look is all about the kind of no holds barred, uncompromisingly colourful preppy vacation wardrobe seen on the moneyed New York set at their Newport Beach Summer houses in the Yuppie boom years of the 80's and 90's. Powerful pastels for power breakfasts, yacht clubs and coast road drives in the Porsche. Or fun, escapist, retro wardrobe classics for the rest of us.

Pastels are obviously key as solids, within checks and as stripes but it's the use of well chosen, authentic bolder colours alongside them that really lifts the palette and makes the simple, classic garment styles modern and interesting again. This look isn't about a baby blue Oxford shirt and a pair of stone chinos. It's about using classic patterns and outfitting to mix, for example, aqua with royal or mango with jade.

It's a trend that can be interpreted in different ways too. For the younger end of the market it's a slightly ironic take on the smarter side of 90's menswear. Quirky cut-and-sew panelled shirts - as featured in the film The Wolf Of Wall Street - and all-over embroidered motif shorts offer a humorous, conversational take of the look. For the more mainstream customer it's simply classic, easy to wear menswear pieces given a new, yet at the same time authentic, Summer colour palette. Classic gingham button-down shirts, flat-fronted - often belted - Chino shorts and fine gauge cotton knitwear all look refreshingly new in sunny yellow, washed jade and the key colour of the trend - Nantucket Red.

Brands such as Ralph Lauren, J Press, L L Bean and even (vintage) Gap are obviously important sources of inspiration. But also the new wave of streetwear labels, Noah from New York and Palace in London in particular, that have been scouring the vintage shops for authentic styles of this era to reinterpret for a new generation of young guys.

For accessories it's all about classy, well researched vintage touches that can be added to the outfits. Premium leather deck shoes are a must as are made in Hawaii "Island Slipper" sandals. For eyewear it's all about classic 80's and 90's Oliver Peoples styles. Laundered cotton baseball caps are a must, as are other colourful touches such as striped watch straps and woven tape trimmed leather belts.

SANTA FE

SANTA FE

Santa Fe offers a refreshing take on a summer casual trend, named after the Hippie homeland in New Mexico, Santa Fe plays heavily into the cool hippie aesthetic with a touch of 90's free festival hippie grunge.

A strong palette of sage greens, ochre, dusty corals and indigo blues sit alongside warm browns and earthy shades.

Textiles are hugely significant in this trend. A varied eclectic mix of wood block, hand painted, ikat & batik prints sit alongside extra warp dobby's, textured and stripe dobby's, space dyes, Japanese boro textiles and Ikat jacquards which all contribute to this multi-cultural textile trend.

The silhouettes is relaxed, reversible Aztec and Navajo shacket contribute heavily to this. Hooded sweats are also used as chunk on outer layer.

Knitwear & jersey use space dye yarns or acid washing treatments help to achieve the worn and faded appearance essential for this trend. Shirts are really important; Rolled Long sleeves, granddad kaftans and short camp collars, and straight hems all with print and weave interest such as variegated stripes, dobby stripes, and jacquards.

Jersey are used as a base layer, the classic shapes in highlight colours break up the heavily patterned outerlayers. The classic cargo short and linen blend chino short help to complete this laid back look.

This is a great trend for accessories, where embroidery and embellishment come through predominantly on wallets, bags and belts.

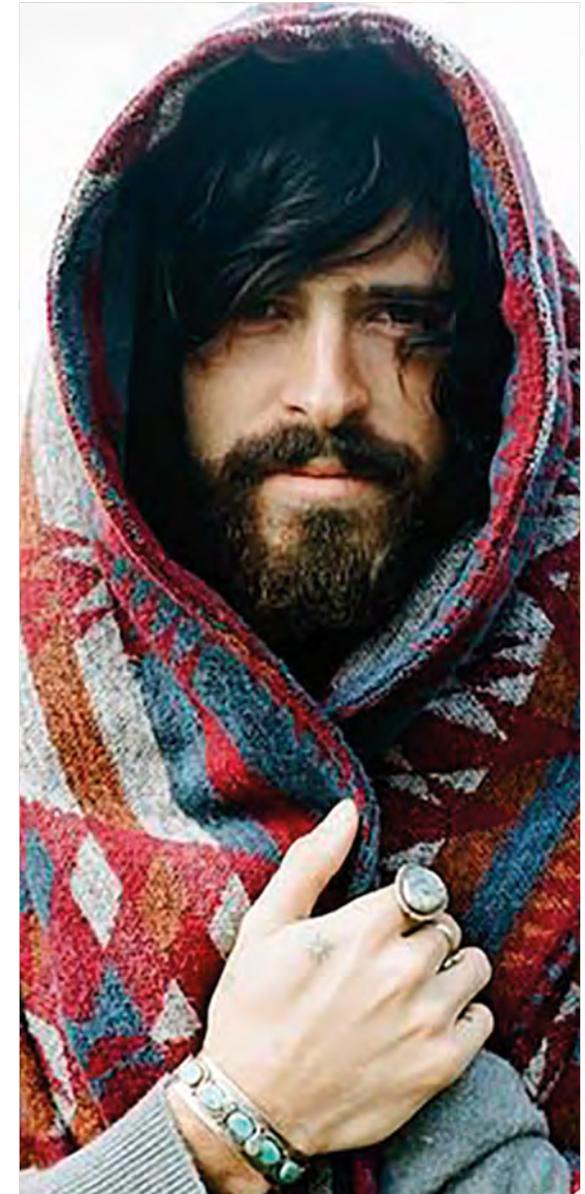

Key footwear shapes are desert boots, espadrilles and woven strap flip-flops. Rope bracelets and rope belts are a nice alternative to leather. Linen scarfs, in solid colours, indigos or patterns. Jazzy flat caps and a structured canvas backpack finalize the look.

CONCRETE BEACH

CONCRETE BEACH

In a continuation of the overriding "90's" macro trend this season, Concrete Beach is a holiday ready, yet strongly urban, highly graphic take on the 90's West Coast surf and skate look updated with a distinct vintage sportswear edge.

It's not about the Hawaiian shirts and the "Beach Boys" nostalgia of the mainstream surf scene here, it's about gritty, distressed jeans and chanked-off bright garment dyed colours, street art influenced graphics and ironic thrift store "Spring Break" T's. It's about monochrome skate shoes and bold cut-and-sew jersey pieces mixed with loud, oversized vintage print shirts and tie-dye effects applied to modern pastel shades.

Denim is key but in solid black and shades of washed blacks and greys. Fits for both jeans and shorts are skinny and damage levels are high. The new 90's influenced "Dad" fit - reminiscent of second hand 501's - is also important. As are denim jackets, the only jacket style within this look. Shorts are obviously a major part of this look too. Solid sub-neon brights in a super short retro length are the new basic. Cut-and-sew is also important and in keeping with the sportswear edge of the trend. Prints, whether panelled, placement or all-over are bold and retro inspired.

Shirts are baggy and fuel the thrift store aesthetic. "Vacation" shirts in bold 90's colourways or hand-drawn geometric repeat patterns are key. Oversized long sleeved denim shirts offer an alternative to a jacket too. T-shirts are a huge part of this look. Either short sleeved and oversized in retro inspired graphic prints, new all-over faux tie-dye prints or in the new long sleeved silhouette with skate team inspired graphic placements.

Accessories are simple and reflect the streetwear edge of the look. The new "Across Body" bag is key this Summer. The classic undersized flight bag offers a more classic alternative with the same end use. For shoes it's all about Vans with their low-top "Old Skool" style being the reissue of the moment. However, the most important accessory of all is a pair of white sports socks. Worn with everything (except the new "Slider" sandals).
